Ohio Medieval Colloquium

Attendance at the Colloquium is free and open to the public.

For information about joining the Ohio Medieval Colloquium, contact either of the current chairs:

Richard Firth Green
The Ohio State University
(green693@osu.edu)

Catherine Rock
Stark State College of Technology
(crock@starkstate.edu).

Thanks to the Office of Academic Affairs and the Ancient, Medieval and Renaissance Studies programs for sponsoring this event.
10:45-11:00 am
welcome and introductions

11:00 am-12:30 pm
morning session

“Liturgical Ceremonies at Barking Abbey,” Kay Slocum, Capital University

“Not so ‘Heartily Sorry:’ The Penance Motif in Malory’s ‘Book of Sir Tristram,’”
Peter Schwartz, Elmira College

“Bishops, their Families and Resistance to Venetian rule in medieval Croatia,” Suzanne Miller, Denison College

12:30-1:20 pm
lunch

1:20-1:30 pm
omc business meeting

1:30-3:00 pm
afternoon session one

“Recognition and Being Given in Caravaggio’s Sacrifice of Isaac,” Erin Labbie,
Bowling Green State University

“Purgatory on Earth in Pre-Reformation Christendom,” Zackariah Long,
Ohio Wesleyan University

“‘Our mayster ys from us gone’: Masculine Faith and Doubt in the Chester Mystery Cycle,” Christina Fitzgerald,
The University of Toledo

3:30-5:00 pm
afternoon session two

“Counting our Ciccenu: Exeter Riddle 13 Revisited,” Patrick J. Murphy, Miami University

“Anglo-Latin Verssspielerei and Literary Elitism,” Leslie Lockett, The Ohio State University

Catherine A. Rock,
Stark State College of Technology

dinner off-campus

Please r.s.v.p. to this Spring’s OMC host:
Patricia DeMarco
Ohio Wesleyan University
(pademarc@owu.edu).