

Ohio Medieval Colloquium – Spring 2011

Saturday March 5, 2011, 10:45am – 4:45 pm

hosted by

Otterbein University

10:45 – 11:00 Welcome – Keith Pepperell

11:00 – 12:30 Session I

“Late Medieval Attitudes Towards Daggged Clothing”

John Friedman (Kent State University)

“The Presence of Ros/Russ/Russia on the Black Sea Coast during the 8th-15th Centuries especially on its North Shore”

Elisaveta Todorova (University of Cincinnati)

“The Cephalophore of Medieval France”

Tim Davies (Columbus State Community College)

12:30 – 1:30 Lunch (sponsored by Dr. Keith Pepperell)

1:30 – 3:00 Session II

“Gregory the Great and Conversion Through Healing”

Benjamin Pugno (Columbus State Community College)

“Royal Bishops in the West Frankish Kingdom, 979-1031”

Courtney DeMayo (Heidelberg University)

“Connectivity, Floor Patterns and Indications of Actual Movement in Dance Iconography from the Roman de la Rose”

Donna La Rue (Boston University)

3:00 – 3:15 Break

3:15 – 4:45 Session III

“The Penance Theme and its connection with the Eucharist in Malory’s Tale of the Sangreal”

Peter Schwartz (Elmira College)

“‘In a glas he hadde pigges bones’: Chaucer’s Pardoner and Sub-Prime Loans”

Keith Pepperell (Otterbein University)

Dinner off-campus