TRANSLATING PIETY

2011 marks the 400th anniversary of the translation of the King James Version of the Bible—a work whose impact, cultural as well as theological, upon the English speaking world has been incalculable. To honor this momentous event we have assembled a series of lectures that is intended to explore ways of translating religious experience throughout the medieval and early modern periods and beyond in a wide variety of geographical and social contexts.

Unless noted otherwise, all lectures will be held at 2:30PM in Room 090 of the Science and Engineering Library, followed by informal conversation with the speaker.
